

Curriculum Vitae - Danilo Pappano

BRIEF BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Danilo Pappano is associate professor of “Administrative Law” and “Public Finance and Accounting” at the University of Calabria and Lumsa University of Rome. Phd in Administrative Law at Roma Tre University where he was assistant professor in Administrative Law from 2005 to 2010. Member in various national and international research projects, such as: - PRIN (National Research Projects) European Democratic Institutions and Administrations. Cohesion and Innovation in Times of Economic Crisis (2012-2016); - "A comparative analysis of the concept of public service in Italian and Chinese Administrative Law" funded by China-Eu School of Law (CESL), at China University of Political Science and Law of Beijing, CUPL (2013); - Proyecto de Investigación Fundamental no orientada funded by Ministerio de Economía y Competitividad (Spain), titled “El impacto de la crisis en la contractacion publica. ¿Està en peligro el contrato administrativo?” at University of La Laguna (Spain); - “The evolution of public organization in PRC. A comparison with Italy, funded Italian National Research Council. Visiting professor at China University of Political Sciences and Law in Beijing (2013), where he also improved knowledge of the Chinese language. Member of the network of scholars “Red Campus Mare Nostrum of University of di Murcia (Spain). Member of the Scientific Committee of the Italian journal “Rivista quadrimestrale di diritto dell’ambiente” edited from Giappichelli. Author of several publications (essays, book chapters, monography, etc.) also abroad, in Italian, English, Spanish and Chinese languages.. Speaker at several conferences in Italy and abroad.